Comic-Book Raid

As a result of charges that certain comic-books are contributing to crime, these comic-book artists [↑] were rounded up today at their hideout where they had stored a sizeable cache of brushes, drawing paper and ink. From right to left, they are a "crime" cartoonist, a "science-fiction" cartoonist, and a "lampoon" cartoonist.

Comics Go Underground

In this remarkable photo, [→] we see a comic-book publisher whose books have been banned from the newsstands, secretly peddling his comics on a busy street corner. It is rumored that this is only one of the tricks that desperate comic-book publishers are resorting to in order to sell their books... another far-fetched rumor being that they are disguising their books to look like newspapers in order to sneak them onto the stands. However, this rumor is plainly ridiculous.

Full Details on Most Nauseating Crime Ever

Today, Sturdley Hockblock publicly confessed to the mostest sickeningest crime ever, in this city of Smerdley, and we have all the details down to the last gruesome little details.

Very Important People Arrive on Boat

(POOP foto by Jack Davis)

The most importantest people ever, arrived on the S.S. Sturdley today. Above is Miss Baba Bam waving hello from rail of ship. Not that Miss Baba Bam had anything to do with arrivals... she was just passing by docks at time.

Police Chief Smudley Smedley of Smerdley had this to say:

"Echhh!"

The body was discovered yesterday by 172 witnesses all over the city. This was because the body was in 172 packages all over the city. But you ain't heard nothing yet.

Hockblock was immediately apprehended through the efficiency of a mammoth police dragnet, a diligent manhunt by the organized citizenry, an announcement on "Gangbusters," and mainly, Hockblock gave himself up.

But now we come to main enjoyable part where Hockblock describes in detail how he committed murder like for instance what kind of butcher's cleaver he used, what type blood the victim had, what color blood, with closeups of the blood and like that.

Now all the teeny details the way Hockblock went about the murder was this. First he grabbed his victim and then he

Googie Divorces Zazie for Boobie

By Smedley Dirdigger
DAILY POOP News Bureau

Yesterday, the most earth-shaking event in the history of our times took place when Googie Smidley, after a quick divorce from the Baroness Zazee Ley Smed, got secretly married to Boobie Van Smoodley at a modest little ceremony at the Taj Mahal.

After the wedding, a modest little reception was held at the Hollywood Bowl. The happy couple had this to say when quizzed by this reporter. "This time, Smedley, it's for keeps. This romance is the real thing and this time this is IT and for keeps this time and it's the real thing." This was Boobie's 12th marriage and Googie's 27th.

While Boobie is the wealthy heiress to the Van Smoodley Timber, Steel and Uranium fortune, Googie is the son of an illiterate, filthy, peasant skunk-farmer.

As to their future plans, Googie said that the honeymoon would have to be delayed since there are matters of grave concern and import to attend to... matters that cannot wait. Like for instance, the construction of a special polo-mallet being hand-fashioned for Googie. Boobie, meanwhile, will vacation.

As Googie packed his moneybags and prepared to depart in his platinum jet-plane (by his last marriage), this reporter was told, emphatically, "Smedley, this time it's the real furshlugginer thing."

Googie With Foofoo While Boobie Vacations

By Dirdley Smedigger

The Bahamas—The most drooly incident ever witnessed by civilization took place this morning when Googie Smidley landed here on his own private platinum landing strip (by his eleventh marriage), for a rendezvous with Foofoo Smedd Lee.

Meanwhile, Boobie said she and Googie could not make a go of married life and she was instituting a divorce. Foofoo Smed Lee, wealthy heiress to Smed Lee Gold and Diamond fortune, announced modest little wedding, only 10,000 close friends to attend. When queried, Googie said, "Dirdley, this time it is positively IT," as he left, in his platinum diesel train.

Googie is Mine Says Selma

By D. Irt

Selma Strudley, this evening, confirmed the devastating rumor that she and Googie Smidley will soon be married. Meanwhile, Foofoo Smedd Lee told reporters that her romance with Googie, after a long period of incessant bickering, has gone on the rocks. Foofoo is the wealthy heiress to several large countries all over the world, and as she stood hand in hand with Googie at the entrance to Foofoo's modest little city, Googie informed this reporter that this was it! Outside, on Foofoo's private lake, on the deck of her private flat-top, Googie's platinum jet Constellation was warming up for a business trip.

(POOP foto by Jack Davis)

Googie and Foofoo tell world that this is it.

War Breaks Out in Far East. Millions Flee for Lives

It was heard today that the beginnings of a war have started in the far east. In the opinion of a leading advisor in this country, this war is so tightly linked to our strategic position in the world that it will undoubtedly lead this country and the rest of the world into war and it is difficult to foresee how it will be possible to avoid using the atom and hydrogen bombs. A board of experts in an emergency round-table discussion agreed unanimously that this event in the far-east is definitely the beginning of the end of civilization.

Broadway

...300 pages later,
you come back to more regular printing...the features!

Well, for you today, I have plenty of dirt culled from Broadway for you today. Last night, this reporter picked up some mighty interesting items down along that glamorous avenue of theatres, clubs, and the neon night-life. And here are some of the items, some of the dirt that this Broadway reporter picked up. Some of the items and dirt were: a hardly smoked cigar butt, a indian penny, a comic book with cover torn off, 1/2 pound silver paper from cigarette packages, 10 Planter's Peanuts wrappers I can send away for free stamps.

AND NOW, around the nightclubs with Smurdley Yeldrums: At the Stark Club I saw Zaza Zam chatting in a very chummy manner with producer, Sam Urdley. At the Twentythousand Four Eight Club, Ludsmey Zam, husband of the beautiful Zaza Zam, was seen sitting alone and this reporter chatted with him for a moment. At the Moco-bombo, Sam Urdley, producer, was seen being punched in the nose while chatting with Ludsmey Zam. At the Coq Roach, Zaza Zam seen also punched in the nose while chatting with Ludsmey Zam. At the Chez Pigalle, this reporter seen punched in the nose by Zaza Zam.

AND NOW, the hottest item of the week: What T.V. actress has been frequently seen with what international playboy at what restaurant at what time? What is going on between these two and what will Broadway actors have to say? What will his agent have to say and what will his company do about what? In fact, what do all these goings on mean in the first place? If you know what, let me know what because I'd like to know myself

AND NOW, an open letter to Bopley Smurd: Dear Bopley, I am sending you this open letter because of the recent encounter you had with your public the other night when you got angry at your fans and refused to sign their autograph books. I am writing you this open letter to remind you that it was the fans who put you where you are today. It was the fans who gave you your first break as a singer. Remember you used to be an electrician and you were fixing the electric fans at the Stark Club and the night club owners heard you singing while you were fixing those electric fans? Remember? Hah, you bum, remember? That was your first break. I am writing you this letter just to remind you what those fans did for you. So last night, when your kicking screaming fans tore the sleeve from your coat, the leg from your pant, the hair from your head, there was no reason for you to get mad...no reason to start to strangle that little girl. She just wanted your socks for a souvenir. And mainly I am writing this open letter...I am writing you this open letter...because a closed letter would cost three cents postage and it's cheaper this way.

AND NOW, this is your Broadway Gunk reporter, Smurdley Yeldrums closing with the final statement of wisdom that I pass along to you out there in order to give you something to think about today and that final wise word is... anybody want to buy silver-paper? I have 1/2 a pound which I will sell cheap.

... In MAD #13, in the story of the Book Version, you have the main character saying, "Gimme that #@$ film." I read the real book version, and I believe he said, "Gimme that xx#@$ film."—Paul Anderson—Sioux Falls, S. Dak.

... All the squares around my crazy school don't dig no bop talk. I told one square to lend me a hunk of bread and he said he had some biscuits and that's all.—Paul Cummino—Salino, Kan.

... After digging Mad Mumblings, I hate to say it but I do think those kats are a bit square on Bop. It seems all they know is "dig, cool, man, crazy." I'd like to assist. Now a true hipster is hep to the times and comes on like Einstein... starts inventing. Sentence structure is the key. Man, if you're gonna cool that jive completely, you've got to go it phrase-wise. A foreigner who checks in at the 48 might know how to say, "Yes, no, hello, goodbye." Those few don't rate him no diploma. He's got to cool it more so. Same thing with the Hipster. He must not have eyes to see fragmentation, he must go fluidly.—Richard Bassford—Corona, L. I.

house—RANCH

... Your comic-book, MAD, is highly objectionable in so many ways that I will not bother to state them. I do not believe in censorship by a governmental agency or through organized pressure but I do feel that you should be appealed to on an intelligent basis. You have responsibilities beyond your interest in making profits. When your work is designed for young people you have the responsibility to help them grow strong emotionally as well as intellectually. I feel that you have no other choice but to remove your comic-book MAD from the stands... if you are honest.—Frank Quinn—San Francisco, Cal.

... In order to make a buck, an artist may turn to the public, and thus lose all his principles. When MAD first appeared on the stands, it was a comic-book for the intellectuals, and circulation was low. Now, circulation is high, and I fear you boys are going to mass-produce for the public, and MAD will keep increasing its circulation. So what! The New York Times would increase its circulation if they used an eight-column head, or printed the Hollywood scandals. Thank God the Times hasn't been swayed by the public's cheap demands. The same can apply to music. Toscaninni probably would be more popular if he lead such great pieces as Ricochet Romance or Doggie in the Window. Wouldn't you rather have your book appeal to intelligent people than to appeal to the ignorant proletariat? LeRoy Fergusson—Wilmington, Mass.

... Just thought I'd write in to say that I appreciate MAD humor very much as do many of my friends here at Tufts college. If intelligent satire can woo kids from stupid comic-books and television, MAD comics will carry us far along the way, and each one saved from imbecility will be a triumph for you.—Marvin Galper—Salem, Mass.

... I nominate MAD for the Pulitzer Prize in literature for 1954. In time I believe your magazine will take its place as one of the classics.—Edwin L. Magee—U. S. Naval Academy, Annapolis, Md.

... Would you please tell a poor, uneducated college student what Potrzebie means?—Scooter—Penn. State, Penn.

... What does the word Potrzebie mean?—Eddie Essen (cotton-picker)—Bristol, Tenn.

... Please tell me what Potrzebie means.—N.S.—Boston, Mass.

... Potrzebie, what does it mean?—Hope Saunders—Portsmouth, Va.

We thought you all knew. However, it's quite simple. What Potrzebie means is simply  —ed.

WRECK OF THE HESPERUS

by H.W. LONGFELLOW

It was the schooner Hesperus,
That sailed the wintry sea;
And the skipper had taken his little daughter,
To bear him company.

Blue were her eyes as the fairy-flax,
Her cheeks like the dawn of day,

And her bosom white as the hawthorn buds,
That ope in the month of May.

The skipper he stood beside the helm,
His pipe was in his mouth;

And he watched the veering flaw did blow
The smoke now west, now south.

Then up spake an old sailor,
Had sailed the Spanish Main:

"I pray thee, put into yonder port,
For I fear a hurricane."

"Last night the moon had a golden ring,
And tonight no moon we see!"

The skipper, he blew a whiff from his pipe,
And a scornful laugh laughed he.

Colder and louder blew the wind,
A gale from the north-east;

The snow fell hissing in the brine,
And the billows frothed like yeast.

Down came the storm and smote amain
The vessel in its strength;

"Come hither! Come hither! My little daughter, And do not tremble so;" "For I can weather the roughest gale,
That ever wind did blow."

He wrapped her warm in his seaman's coat He cut a rope from a broken spar,
Against the stinging blast; And bound her to the mast.

"O father! I hear the church-bells ring, O say, what may it be?"

"'Tis a fog-bell on a rock-bound coast!"—
And he steered for the open sea.

"O father! I hear the sound of guns,
O say, what may it be?"

"Some ship in distress, that cannot live
In such an angry sea!"

"O father! I see a gleaming light,
O say, what may that be?"

But the father answered never a word,
A frozen corpse was he.

Lashed to the helm, all stiff and stark,
With his face turned to the skies;

The lantern gleamed through the gleaming snow
On his fixed and glassy eyes...

...And fast through the midnight dark and drear, Like a sheeted ghost, the vessel swept Through the whistling sleet and snow, Towards the reef of Norman's Woe.

And ever, the fitful gusts between,
A sound came from the land;

It was the sound of the trampling surf,
On the rocks and the hard sea-sand.

The breakers were right beneath her bows,
She drifted a weary wreck,

And a whooping billow swept the crew
Like icicles from her deck.

She struck where the white and fleecy waves
Looked soft as carded wool,

But the cruel rocks, they gored her side,
Like the horns of an angry bull.

Her rattling shrouds, all sheathed in ice,
With masts, went by the board;

Like a vessel of glass, she stove and sank,
Ho! ho! the breakers roared.

At daybreak, on the bleak sea-beach,
A fisherman stood aghast,

To see the form of a maiden fair,
Lashed close to a drifting mast.

The salt sea was frozen on her breast,
The salt tears in her eyes;

And he saw her hair like the brown sea-weed,
On the billows fall and rise.

Such was the wreck of the Hesperus,
In the midnight and the snow.
Christ save us all from a death like this
On the reef of Norman's Woe!
